

R Life Live Lounge & Listen to Live Local Performers
Every Friday 6pm - 8pm In Lobby Court Lounge

Friday September 2nd

Garrett Gue

Garrett Gue, hailing from Bozeman, has been passionately exploring music ever since his uncle gave him a beat-up guitar when he was eight years old. Garrett now living in Seattle is a writer and performer of progressive, acoustic guitar-driven songs. His refreshingly honest lyrics and instantly lovable melodies have garnered an explosive fan base. In November of 2010, Garrett was nominated for the SiriusXM Singer-Songwriter Discovery of the Year Award.

Friday September 9th

Rachel Wong

Rachel Wong is just your average girl thriving off of music and is finally trying to take that leap of faith and share her music with the world. Rachel presents a unique acoustic pop sound that will have you tapping your foot and singing along. Drawing upon rich personal experiences, Rachel's lyrics connect to everyone's encounters of love and loss.

Friday September 16th

Tazlyn Fischer

Tazlyn began performing in 1996, at the age of seven. Since then, she has performed at numerous events including private events, festivals, clubs, sporting events, competitions, and the Montana Governor's State of the State Address. In 2010, Tazlyn opened for the Doobie Brothers on the main stage at Rockin' the Rivers. She currently fronts Solbird, a seven-piece R&B band based out of Seattle.

Friday September 23rd

Megan McConnel

Singer and songwriter Megan McConnel is a welcome new addition to the Seattle music scene. In her first demo which contains songs she is working on for her debut album "Classy Girl", Megan's light humored introspection is apparent as she weaves classic themes with story-telling in high concept pop music. Her arrangements and instrumentation have an obvious sophistication that comes from serious study in the academy, but McConnel's technical proficiency does not mute her passionate delivery, but rather accentuates it.

Friday September 30th

Brooks Giles III

Saxophonist and vocalist Brooks Giles III began playing the tenor saxophone at age ten in the elementary school band. A few years later he began singing with the St. John A.M.E. youth choir. Over the years Brooks has performed with The Drifters, Donald Byrd, Charli Persip's Supersound, The Peter Duchin Orchestra, The Harlem Renaissance Orchestra and The Apollo Theatre Band. He also appeared in the 1999 Woody Allen film "Sweet & Lowdown" starring Sean Penn and Uma Thurman.